NOTICE TO ALL MEMBERS OF AFFILIATED ANWE CLUBS

Over the past year or so, some Australian trainers are advertising that they are endorsed by ANWE/WAWE.

We wish to advise all Working Equitation riders that this is NOT correct.

As yet ANWE/WAWE has NOT recognised or endorsed ANY trainers in Australia. At the present time ANWE is only accrediting judges who are proficient with the Rule Book and who can judge at competitions.

If you wish to improve at the wonderful sport of Working Equitation, dressage guidance can be obtained from the best dressage trainer available.

Similarly, with the cattle phase, if you require assistance you should access the best cattle trainer.

For the Style and Speed phases, studying the ANWE Rule Book, which is available on the ANWE website (anweltd.com.au), becoming a member of your local club and attending their training days will help you negotiate the obstacles.

Riders who compete in the sport and who have been successful in competitions and/or are accredited ANWE judges, should also be able to assist you in understanding the rules and negotiating the obstacles correctly.

ANWE is committed to accessing the best international Working Equitation trainers and riders to help develop our sport and our committed Australian Working Equitation riders.
